- All good.
- Every question I've had, I've asked. Thanks so much.
- I am glad that in the healthcare sector, physicians are more "comfortable" dealing with patients.
- I am happy to say that I am blessed living with HIV so many years.
- I am very grateful for the kindness and attention shown.
- I am very happy with myself cause this medication is working for me and I'm so happy thank you so much and I'm not scared for anyone to know that I'm HIV. I'm blessed God bless you all.
- I feel very fortunate to have the best possible doctor and access to the best medication. Due to my 30+ years of living with HIV/AIDS I am disabled and live on social security. I am thankful that I can occasionally access assistance as a low income person.
- I have been diagnosed now for 35 years. i am so glad all these wonderful tools, like places such as Hope & Help are now available for people that need them. When I started I was told, that day, I had 6 months to live but fortunately for me I am an RN and could find education and treatment options even back then. And have gone from vomiting almost every day for years on AZT. To now a beautiful 1 pill a day.. My t-cells have always been good > 400. so please keep these places going. ... we need them

- I thank God everyday for people like you all that are there to help.
- It's a difficult life to live and turns your entire universe upside down. The financial and medical support does make it more feasible to get by in an already complicated situation.
- I've been learning how to deal with having HIV, its hard because some people are out here to judge you. But I continue to do what I need to do to live my life and not care about what others think.
- Ryan white and the services they provide for are why I am able to remain healthy without these services, I believe I would not be alive today. I am so grateful!
- Thank you for all you do for so many.
- Thank you for all you do!
- Thank you for doing this. It's not for us if it doesn't include us.
- Undetected. Yay. Thanks
- What you are doing is already wonderful! Thank you!
- With medical attention, I feel happy and I know that by taking care of myself, I'll live many more years without having to receive an AIDS diagnosis.
- I'm ok with my own skin I grew to love me & I can actually say I'm stronger then ever!
- I was diagnosed in 1998. I have been coming here since 98. I think the services have become better and more streamlined over time.

- I have been HIV positive for over 30 years. And hope and help has been with me the entire time. At times it's embarrassing to still be going to them. But I have no choice because I do not have insurance. My prior employer did not offer insurance. And now I'm a self-employed artist and still do not make enough money to purchase my own insurance.
- I have been one of the lucky ones. I have watched multiple friends die since I was diagnosed in 1992. This July will mark 30 years that I have been living with this disease. I wished I was able to share my status with others but my last job I was not allowed to come back after the pandemic. I know that this was due to my HIV status. My upper management made comments “ you just need to take care of your health” I never received a bad review in my close to 12 years working for Landry’s. This was a move to stop having to pay for my insurance.
- I have diagnosed + for HIV going on 37 years. I have never been diagnosed with AIDS or ARC for over 30 years my CD4 count has been anywhere from 700-1100. My viral load is always undetectable. What would happen if I stop taking HIV medication?
- More information on Medication to stay Healthy
- My confidentiality!
- Need eyes checked
- There needs to be more services for the aging HIV population. Seriously.
- Hard to get help we need. Case managers are overwhelmed. Lots of loopholes. We just want medicine to live. Healthcare and support services
- I wish there was help with vision care
- HIV support groups are very helpful.

Other Comments

- No thank you
- Normal
- People are still confused regarding REAL knowledge of HIV (contracting and living with same). This includes those actually diagnosed with HIV. Improper knowledge of HIV leads to FEAR. Correct knowledge and understanding leads to better management of the all person's involved.
- Relieve the stigma that HIV makes you "DIRTY". HIV and AIDS are NOT interchangeable terms
- To find a cure.
- recommendations for longevity
- Care at VA except dental
- Many services unobtainable due to agency staff mismanagement and unwillingness to help
- The facilities that provide healthcare need to be more attentive to patient privacy. Crowded waiting rooms and staff turnover creates a concern with privacy.
- I think help with housing is important for someone living with hiv to have that stability where he or she can take care and do all the things needed to be healthy with hiv. Employers still have questioners asking if you have hiv listed u set disabilities... so I think we get discriminated against and it's hard to maintain good jobs where we can pay rent. That's why I think a better housing assistance plan should be in affect with less strict criteria and with case workers that actually want to help you and are understanding of your needs and no judging you for needing help.

Other Comments

- Facilities that offer healthcare should be more discreet with patients and information
- Rent is very high and assistance definitely welcome. Cost of food is getting very expensive. Physical activity assistance is needed with gym. Need an advocate to help with meal preps. Healthy lifestyle advocate.
- Just difficult to get scheduled to see a doctor or get a referral to see a doctor.
- Had to wait many many many months to get help from a mental health counselor after the case manager requested help. I think I had to wait 4 to 6 months.
- I think a lot of people think that HIV is done, is not a threat, or don't care. The commercials shown on TV are wonderful as they do help remind people HIV is still present and new drugs that keep it from spreading as in the past
- We (HIV patients) should be able to get inexpensive life insurance as people who are smokers, diabetic , etc.
- Have better access to housing doctors when you are 1st diagnosed

- I am serviced with Project Response. They are good. They have explained and have a STD/STI center which is great for the community but I wish they offered activities for a chance to socialize with others who have HIV.
